This exhibition is quite famous for its unique representation of images in different shades of gray. As you can see there's a lot of stuff going on the screen right now, but instead of boring photos, there's just something more in it. I feel like the colours are different and shades are bright, the nature is a beauty and we're there staring it can't be right.

Hell yeah it is! I'm gonna buy that stuff, that's for sure

What makes this so awesome are the colours. I love them! Just incredible.
